"Every child is an artist. They play with the colour of life.

Beautiful colors - bright and shiny. They inspire me by their authenticity.

I am a storyteller and a color passionate who is touched by my own life, people's daily lives and what happens in the world around us. I translate this into my work.

Stories, color and various figures form a fascinating mix and are the common thread of specifically chosen themes.

Behind every image - behind every theme - there is a story and a certain energy.

This touches people and creates recognition.

I love to inspire and to be inspired."***

REVIEWS

Séverine Crancée Hattu (Art Advisor at Galeries Bartoux - Paris)

"Color is very important in Mieke's artworks, mainly bright and vivid, they attract the attention, focusing on the meaning of the composition. Her exploration of color and form is deeply compelling. Mieke uses mixed media in some artworks giving texture, highlighting the color's interpretation, and adding depth to the composition with contrast. The sizes could be bigger for an immersive point of view. Mieke masters many techniques, making her art very versatile."

Ohana Nkulufa

"De kracht van deze portfolio ligt in zijn veelzijdigheid, emotionele diepte en controle over textuur en kleur. De kunstenaar beweegt zich moeiteloos tussen abstracte figuren, gedetailleerde portretten en geometrische abstractie, terwijl zij een consistente onderliggende stemming en technische vaardigheid behoudt."

Ainhoa Fernández

I think that your work already carries a powerful, recognizable voice, emotionally charged through stillness, anonymity, and restraint. That consistency is your strength. But as you grow, challenge yourself to expand the emotional and conceptual range of your visual language. Explore new perspectives or subtleties in gesture not to change your identity, but to deepen it.

Congrats!
